

mission statement

THE ONLY ART MAGAZINE THAT'S FUN TO READ

Artillery is an alternative contemporary art publication that reflects the vitality of the creative world today. We tap the provocative, with readable articles, intelligent reviews, in-depth profiles and edgy columns. Artillery can be relied on for the latest art world news. We don't mince words, we are "killer text on art."

In addition to our print edition, we have a strong Web presence with bloggers, Facebook and Twitter. Our YouTube site features new videos every issue, with exclusive footage of openings, current and historical interviews, along with independent artist videos. We have a steadfast public following with regular events such as live debates, poetry readings, book signings and art fair events.

Artillery is published in Los Angeles where the nation's top art schools, prominent galleries and artists have helped create the current art explosion. Though we are LA-based, we cover the international scene with contributors in New York, San Francisco, Dallas, Berlin, London and the biennials. All this makes Artillery formidable, entertaining and different — the alternative magazine we like to call: The only art magazine that's fun to read.
